TAX ASPECTS

This summary sets forth general principles that are expected to apply to employees who participate to the Offer and are and remain during the whole period of their investment resident of Ireland for the purposes of the tax laws of Ireland.

This summary is given for informational purposes only and should not be relied upon as being either complete or conclusive. The tax treatment that applies to you may differ from the regime described below depending on your personal situation, and in particular in the case of international mobility. You are encouraged to consult your own tax advisor for definitive advice.

The tax consequences described below are based on tax laws and practices as applicable in June 2024. Tax laws and practices may change over time.

TAXATION IN FRANCE

According to French domestic law, you will not be subject to taxation in France at the time you subscribe or dispose of your FCPE units. Considering that your shares will be held in the FCPE, no taxes will be applied in France on dividends, if any, are paid with respect to Renault S.A. shares.

TAXATION IN IRELAND

Will I be required to pay any tax and/or social charges at the time of inception to the Offer?

→ With respect to my Free Shares?

Yes, Free Shares will be treated as a benefit in kind and will be taxable at your marginal income tax rate, of 20% or 40% for 2024.

The taxable amount will be the market value of Free Shares on the date of their delivery.

The taxable amount on subscription is also subject to the Universal Social Charge (“USC”). The USC is currently 0.5%, 2%, 4% or 8% depending on the level of income of the employee. Employee Pay Related Social Insurance (“PRSI”) will also apply at a rate of 4%.

Income tax, USC and Employee PRSI will be collected at source by your employer as part of the normal payroll withholding tax system. Details of income tax, USC and PRSI collected at source will be included in your Employment Detail Summary (formerly known as form P60) for the relevant tax year.

→ With respect to my acquired shares with a 30% Discount?

The same tax and social security treatment described above for Free Shares.

The taxable amount is calculated based on the difference between (i) the market value of the shares at the date of acquisition and (ii) their acquisition price (which is calculated by reference to an average trading price minus a discount).

→ With respect to my Matching Shares?

The same tax and social security treatment described above for Free Shares.

The taxable amount will be the market value of Matching Shares on the date of their delivery.

 If dividends are distributed by Renault S.A. to the FCPE during the investment period, will I be required to pay tax and/or social charges on such dividends?

As dividends are reinvested by the FCPE in additional Renault shares, you will be taxed in respect of any shares received in lieu of dividends. A charge to income tax (your marginal rate), USC and PRSI, would arise on the amount of the dividend foregone (and received in shares). For 2024, income tax marginal rate is 20% or 40% and PRSI rate is 4%.

You will also be liable to USC on dividend income. The current rates of USC are 0.5%, 2%, 4% or 8% depending on your income.

 Shall my FCPE units be considered for the purposes of a wealth tax?

No.

 Will I be required to pay any tax and/or social charges when I ask the redemption of my FCPE units for cash at the end of the lock-up period or in case of an authorized case of early release?

When you redeem your investment in the FCPE, you will be liable to capital gains tax (currently at a rate of 33%) on any gain realised to the extent it exceeds your annual exemption (currently €1,270). The gain will be computed as the difference between the cash amount you receive at the date of redemption and the subscription price plus the amount on which you were subject to income tax at the time of subscription of units. A charge to social insurance will not arise.

You must pay any capital gains tax due directly to the Revenue Commissioners by 15 December during the tax year where you redeem your units in the period up to 30

November, or by 31 January following the end of the tax year where you redeem your units in the period from 1 December to 31 December in the tax year.

Do I have any reporting obligations with respect to the subscription, holding and redemption of my FCPE units or to the payment of dividends, if any?

As your employer will withhold the income tax, USC and PRSI through the payroll tax system, there is no separate reporting obligation in relation to the benefit arising on acquisition of the shares.

You are required to report the gain on the redemption of your FCPE units at the end of the lock-up period on your annual tax return (or Form CG1 if you are not obliged to file an annual tax return). The return must be filed on or before 31 October following the end of the year in which you redeem your FCPE units. As noted above, any capital gains tax arising on a disposal of the shares is payable within certain time limits of the disposal taking place.
